THE COLLEGE

ADMISSIONS BULLETIN

The Philadelphia College of the Performing Arts is dedicated to excellence in the training of professional musicians, dancers, music educators, and dance educators. The PCPA curriculum combines the performance emphasis of a traditional conservatory approach, stressing individualized training, practice, and discipline, with a liberal arts education.

Founded in 1870 as the Philadelphia Musical Academy, the Philadelphia College of the Performing Arts has long been regarded as one of America's foremost contributors of outstanding musicians. Many of the College's early graduates and faculty became members and founders of the Philadelphia Orchestra when it was formed in 1900. The Philadelphia Orchestra continues to play a significant role in the life of PCPA with many of its members currently serving on the College faculty. Located in Philadelphia's historic Shubert Building, PCPA is adjacent to the Academy of Music, home of the world-famous orchestra.

In 1976, still offering only a music program, the College officially changed its name to the Philadelphia College of the Performing Arts. This signified a new direction for the school, and in essence announced the College's intention to expand its curriculum to include all three of the performing arts—Music, Dance, and Theatre.

In 1977, the College incorporated the School of Dance into its curriculum, thus adding new dimensions to the College's program. The high standards of training and professionalism established by the School of Music are an integral part of the dance program.

The College plans to introduce a School of Theatre and a School of Creative Studies in the mid-1980's, offering degrees in such areas as acting, musical theatre, theatre arts, choreography, stage direction, and related fields.

The Philadelphia College of the Performing Arts, long regarded as a leader and pioneer, is Pennsylvania's first and only independent college dedicated exclusively to the performing arts. One of the first of its kind in the United States, the College is recognized as a school which is serving present and future needs. Its philosophy is founded on the principle that performing artists, whatever their discipline, have a common bond, and that they must reach out to each other for inspiration and growth. Many of the College's students follow interdisciplinary careers requiring familiarity with all the performing arts.

The College is proud of its distinguished faculty, most of whom are widely-recognized performing artists. Because of this faculty, along with the College's philosophy that superior individualized instruction is of the utmost importance, PCPA has established a reputation for excellence in professional training. This reputation is strengthened by the impressive and ever-growing list of PCPA alumni which includes pianists Andre Watts, Eugene List and the late William Kapell, composer Vincent Persichetti, soprano Florence Quivar, dancers Judith Jamison and Rodney Griffith, and jazz artist Stanley Clarke.

The Philadelphia College of the Performing Arts, a fully-accredited independent institution, is a member of a unique consortium. The College shares membership with the Juilliard School, San Francisco Conservatory, New England Conservatory, Cleveland Institute of Music, Mannes School, Manhattan School of Music, and Peabody Conservatory.

The Philadelphia College of the Performing Arts offers the student the unique opportunity to learn and grow creatively as an individual and as a performing artist. The coeducational student body is composed of students from across the United States and many foreign countries. All students receive personal attention, professional individualized training, and are regarded as unique individuals possessing abilities and talents which must be guided, respected, and allowed to grow to full potential. Our goal is to assist each student to realize the full attainment of his true potential.

Indeed, the Philadelphia College of the Performing Arts is a place where one can study with a professional to become a professional, while earning a fully-accredited college degree.

The College looks forward to the future and invites young artists to consider becoming a part of this exciting experience.

THE CAMPUS

The Philadelphia College of the Performing Arts is located in Center City Philadelphia, a location highly advantageous for the young performing artist. Its buildings are in the center of an area which serves as the focal point of the city's major performing arts activities. Within one block of the College, one will find the permanent homes of the Philadelphia Orchestra, the Pennsylvania Ballet, the Philadelphia Civic Ballet, the Philadelphia College of Art, Philadelphia's High School for the Creative and Performing Arts, and Philadelphia International Records. Indeed, concentrated within this small area, one finds more professional music, dance, and theatre represented than in any other part of the city.

The home of PCPA is the modern seven-story Shubert Building at 250 South Broad Street. Philadelphia's historic Shubert Theatre, owned and operated by the College, is housed on the ground floor of the building, and is today the major performance hall for PCPA students and faculty. At the same time, it is the permanent home of the Pennsylvania Ballet, and it is frequently a major stop for pre-Broadway shows and national touring companies. The opera/concert theatre has a seating capacity of 1800 persons and is considered to be one of Philadelphia's finest.

On the third floor of the building is the Clara and William S. Fishman Memorial Library. This library houses more than 14,500 volumes and scores and over 10,000 records and tapes. In addition, the collection includes the Lattimore-Nahumck Library of Dance which is an extensive reference collection related to the art of dance. The remainder of the building houses a full complement of modern classrooms, chamber music studios, student lounges, and administrative offices. In addition, there is an electronic music studio, class piano laboratory, and audio-visual equipment. Practice rooms are carpeted, have full-length mirrors, and individual heat controls. Many are equipped with grand pianos. Also available is a two-manual Challis Harpsichord, an 8-track Moog Synthesizer, two harps, complete sets of percussion instruments, and more than 100 orchestral instruments which may be used on a loan basis for rehearsals and class instruction.

The Annex Building, located at 313 South Broad Street, houses the jazz, and opera programs of PCPA. This building has spacious dance studios and several smaller practice rooms. Studios are equipped with sturdy barres, mirrors, and resilient wood floors. Dressing rooms are available with individual lockers and showers. Several rooms are available as rehearsal space for large ensembles and other functions. The building also houses the Performing Arts School, PCPA's own private school for grades 5-12.

Theatre 313 is located in the Annex and serves students and faculty as a recital hall for student and faculty concerts and productions. With a seating capacity of approximately 200, this theatre provides an intimate setting for small productions.

The School of Dance at 309 South Broad Street, is one of the College's two new facilities. The building houses three spacious studios with high ceilings, barres, mirrors, and resilient floors. There are also dressing rooms, showers, office and lounge areas.

The PCPA Residence Hall (Spruce Hall) is located at 301 South 15th Street, one block away from the Shubert Building and offers students independent, double-occupancy apartments.

PCPA is proud to offer to its students these three modern facilities located in the hub of Philadelphia's cultural and performing arts activities. Coupled with a dormitory and one of Philadelphia's finest theatres, the College offers an environment and location which will foster the professional and artistic development of each PCPA student.

SCHOOL OF MUSIC

The School of Music of the Philadelphia College of the Performing Arts is concerned with the preparation and training of young artists for careers as professional musicians and music educators. Moreover, PCPA is dedicated to the total education of its students. The College's goal is to produce individuals who possess the means to function as musicians and as productive citizens.

The traditional conservatory approach, that which stresses the importance of individualized training, is a strong influence in the curriculum of the School of Music. The College also places great emphasis on performance.

All music majors at PCPA receive intensive training in theory and musicianship as well as background in the humanities. The PCPA theory program utilizes a unique approach to theoretical studies, ensuring each student a solid foundation in basic skills, analysis, literature and music history. Musicianship (ear-training) studies foster an aural awareness of pitch and rhythmic materials. Fundamentals of music theory are correlated with aural materials so that both intellectual and aural skills develop simultaneously and reinforce each other.

The importance of individualized training is reinforced by the College's on-going Master Class Series. Recent artists who have conducted Master Classes include pianists Andre Watts, Claude Frank, Philippe Entremont, and composers George Crumb and Robert Suderberg.

From time to time, guest conductors rehearse the PCPA orchestra. Maestros Riccardo Muti, Raphael Fruhbeck de Burgos, Stanislaw Skrowaczewski, and Klaus Tennstedt have been recent guests.

Coupled with the importance of individualized instruction, the College is strongly performance-oriented. Performance and involvement in performing groups is an important part of the curriculum of the School of Music. The College makes available a variety of ensembles and performance opportunities. They include:

- Symphony Orchestra
- PCPA Chorus
- Symphonic Wind Ensemble
- Jazz Ensemble I
- Jazz Ensemble II
- Guitar Ensemble
- Piano Accompanying
- String Chamber Ensembles
- Mixed Chamber Ensembles
- Percussion Ensemble
- New Music Group
- Opera Productions
- Studio Concerts
- Student Composition Concerts
- The Troubadour Program

Occasionally, students have the privilege of participating in very special performances. For example, the PCPA Chorus performs periodically with the Philadelphia Orchestra. The Troubadour Program affords students the opportunity to represent the College and to perform throughout the Philadelphia area. Each spring, the College sponsors a celebration of the performing arts in its "IN CONCERT" performance series. This culmination of each year's performance efforts is a series of concerts, recitals and special programs stressing all aspects of music and dance.

Since 1870, the School of Music has been preparing and training young artists for professional careers as musicians and music educators. PCPA's comprehensive music training program is geared to assist in the fullest development of each student's potential.

CURRICULUM

The PCPA curriculum stresses individualized training with a performance emphasis and includes required courses in the Humanities. Each semester, students in the BM and the BM/BME programs take one Humanities course, with the remainder being in music. The Humanities courses, whenever possible, are taught with regard to how they relate to the performing arts. The College curriculum does not include any courses in mathematics or science. Students in the Certificate in Performance program do not have a Humanities requirement.

DEGREE AND CERTIFICATE PROGRAMS

Bachelor of Music

The four-year Bachelor of Music program is designed for those students who wish to prepare for professional careers in performance, composition, or who desire a thorough background in anticipation of graduate study, studio teaching, or further work in specialized fields.

Double Degree: Bachelor of Music/ Bachelor of Music Education

The five-year Double Degree Program prepares students for careers in school music teaching. The College takes the position that teachers of music must be of the same general level of musical accomplishment as students graduating with a BM degree. Students are granted two degrees: the Bachelor of Music degree in either performance or composition and the Bachelor of Music Education degree. One-third of the College's music majors are enrolled in this double degree program.

In addition to the requirements for the Bachelor of Music degree, double degree candidates complete courses in instrumental and vocal methods, functional piano, psychology, social foundations of education, conducting, lab teaching, professional methods, and student teaching. Methods classes begin in the sophomore year, following the traditional freshman year of core requirements.

The degree program in Music Education is fully approved by the Pennsylvania Department of Education, and persons receiving certification in Pennsylvania can, because of reciprocal arrangements, easily obtain certification in other states. Further, courses taken during the additional two semesters required for the double degree at PCPA are fully applicable to permanent teacher certification in Pennsylvania without the need for additional post-baccalaureate instruction. In this sense, PCPA offers a most effective program for those who recognize the desirability of teaching and the attractiveness of an applied career.

For its Music Education majors, the College offers excellent physical facilities, up-to-date curriculum laboratory, closely-supervised lab school and student-teaching experiences, a curriculum emphasizing practical as well as theoretical approaches to the basics of accepted educational techniques, a faculty widely-experienced in public school and private teaching, and a policy of close individual career and college counseling.

Certificate in Performance

The Certificate in Performance program is a two-year program designed for the student who wishes to concentrate exclusively on musical studies without requirements in the Humanities.

Jazz Emphasis

The Jazz Emphasis program is designed as an elective within the traditional four-year Bachelor of Music degree program. Concentrated in the final two years of the BM program, Jazz Emphasis is designed to prepare students for a career in all aspects of Jazz and Commercial Music. Course offerings include Jazz Theory and Academic Jazz History, Improvisation, and Recording Techniques, along with extensive participation in small and large jazz ensembles. Students also receive major instrumental instruction, traditional theory, literature, musicianship, and a full course of study in the Humanities.

Opera Emphasis

The Opera emphasis program exposes the undergraduate student to the rigors and literature of the operatic world before they continue with advanced work in this field. Voice majors may elect this program during the final two-years of a four-year degree program at the College. Courses include acting, staging, acting Improvisation, opera literature and special musical coachings with the opera department faculty.

ADMISSIONS

Admission to the College's degree and certificate programs is determined by a competitive entrance audition and a review of the applicant's secondary school record and SAT or ACT scores. The admissions program seeks to determine the applicant's technical and intuitive grasp of his major performance medium and of music fundamentals as a whole, his ability to function in a college environment, and his overall commitment to music as a career and as an art.

Secondary School Requirements

Applicants must complete requirements for the high school diploma, GED, or the foreign equivalent prior to actual enrollment in the College, with the exception of those accepted under the Early Admissions Program. Proof of completion of the secondary school requirements must be submitted to the Office of Admissions before enrollment.

Application Procedure

All applicants must submit:

1. A completed Application for Admission and a check or money order to cover the non-refundable $25 application fee.
2. Official transcripts from all secondary schools or colleges attended.
3. SAT or ACT test results.
4. A brief biographical narrative of your musical experience and activities.

In special cases, the SAT or ACT requirement may be waived by the Dean of Admissions. The college has no minimum cutoff score for SAT or ACT.

A tear-out Application for Admission is in the back of this Bulletin.

Submission of letters of recommendation is desirable but not mandatory unless specifically requested.

When feasible, personal interviews are encouraged. This provides the opportunity for the applicant and College staff members to become personally acquainted and to discuss the curriculum and facilities. However, because of distance and other factors, the interview is only recommended. It is not mandatory.

Because College enrollment quotas may be filled early, applications should be filed as soon as possible, in order to avoid the possibility of being placed on a waiting list.

Violinist Dorothy DeLay, faculty

Voice—Three classical songs; one early Italian song, and two in English.

AUDITION TAPES

Applicants who are unable to audition in person may submit a tape recording. Audition tapes should meet the following standards:

1. Tapes should be clear and relatively free of static or surface noise.
2. Recording speed should be 7 1/2 ips using a standard 7” reel.
3. The tape reel and box should be clearly marked indicating the performer’s name, instrument, and program including names of composers, opus or other appropriate numbers, and movements played.
4. The audition tape should not exceed 15 minutes in length. Do not send a tape of a concert or recital performance.

The College reserves the right to rehear any person admitted on the basis of a taped audition. In such cases, the School also reserves the right to reconsider, and to negate if necessary, the original offer of admission.

Maestro Riccardo Muti, Music Director and Conductor of the Philadelphia Orchestra, conducts the PCPA Orchestra during rehearsal.

PLACEMENT TESTING PROGRAM

Following admission to the college, a series of placement tests is administered. These tests are given to allow a realistic assessment of the applicant's strengths and weaknesses and are not factors affecting admission to the college.

The following tests are part of the Placement Testing Program:

1. The Ear Training Placement Exam deals with the ability to match pitches, identify intervals and triads, and to sight-sing melodies and tap rhythms.
2. The Theory Placement Exam reviews the applicant's conversance with major and minor (natural, harmonic, melodic) scales, intervals, chords, and basic music terminology.
3. The English Composition Exam requires a brief written essay on a topic to be supplied at the time of testing.
4. The Basic Piano Placement Exam (for non-keyboard majors only) reviews the applicant's ability (if any) to play the piano.

Placement Exam results are used as a general index of musical accomplishment, and as a specific mechanism for class assignments. The tests allow us to place students in class sections with students of similar ability.

SCHOOL OF DANCE

Andrew Pap, faculty

The School of Dance of the Philadelphia College of the Performing Arts is dedicated to the training of young artists for careers as professional dancers and dance educators. The School is founded on the belief that today's professional dancers must have extensive knowledge and experience in their chosen field as well as skills in related disciplines. With this in mind, the College offers a broad-based curriculum which prepares students to enter the professional world of dance with confidence.

Daily technique classes in ballet, modern dance, and jazz and tap dance are basic to all courses of study. Additional course offerings include improvisation, repertory, and partnering, as well as electives such as Spanish dance, character, and mime. In courses such as dance history and score reconstruction, students gain a historical perspective of different dance traditions. Music, voice, and drama classes provide dancers with the necessary links to the allied performing arts. Practical experience in aspects of production is an essential part of the program. Various courses in the humanities and social science are offered, with special emphasis given to their relation to the arts.

Performance is an essential and enjoyable part of the curriculum and serves to integrate classroom work with stage experience. Students are encouraged to organize their own studio workshops and concerts in addition to participating in the regularly-scheduled performances. Each spring, the year-long efforts culminate in a celebration of the arts—the "IN CONCERT" performance series. Students perform a wide range of classical and modern repertory in addition to original works choreographed for them by the faculty.

Other performance opportunities include the Troubadour Program, a community outreach program, which enables students to perform in schools and institutions throughout the Delaware Valley. The School's affiliation with cultural institutions throughout the city provides students with the opportunity to participate in professional productions.

Performance opportunities involve students in all facets of production, including lighting, costuming, make-up, and set design. Through this process, students gain an understanding of dance as a performing art.

The large faculty of professional artists brings with it a wide range of experience and tradition. Small classes and individualized instruction provide a creative and exciting atmosphere where students are challenged and guided.

Former students have achieved success in many different companies throughout the world. They have been performers with such renowned companies as Alvin Ailey, Béjart, Joffrey, José Limon, and Pearl Lang, and teachers in such institutions as the North Carolina School of the Arts. For these students, the high level of technical and artistic training acquired in the PCPA School of Dance contributed to their subsequent success.

CURRICULUM

The demands of today's professional dance world require that dancers be familiar with more than one style of dance. For this reason, the College has created a core program including all basic dance styles for all students.

The intensive training in dance is complemented by performance opportunities and required elective courses in the humanities.

Core Curriculum

Freshman Year	Sophomore Year
Ballet	Ballet
Modern Dance	Modern Dance
Jazz and Tap	Jazz and Tap

*Dance Electives: Spanish, Ethnic, Mime, Character Dance

In the third and fourth years of study, students major in Ballet, Modern Dance, or Jazz Dance while maintaining a nominal amount of study in the related styles.

DEGREE PROGRAMS

Bachelor of Fine Arts (BFA)

The BFA degree program is designed for those students who desire to prepare for a professional performing career in dance. The program is normally completed in four years of full-time study and carries a total graduation requirement of 135-138 credits, depending on the major field of study. 24 of these credits are in liberal arts courses and 13 are in music courses. Graduation requirements for all dance majors include the successful completion of performance requirement.

Bachelor of Fine Arts in Dance Education (BFA in Dance Ed.)

The BFA in Dance Education degree program is a five-year program specifically designed for those students whose primary intention is to enter the dance profession as a teacher of dance. The College takes the position that teachers of dance must be of the same high level of accomplishment as students graduating from the four-year BFA program. For this reason, the course of study for the first four years is the same as that followed by non-education majors. The fifth year of study offers students the opportunity to obtain practical and theoretical training in teaching methods and styles while strengthening their foundation in dance techniques.

Although there is currently no Pennsylvania certification for dance teachers, this program of study does include a semester of supervised student teaching in schools and/or private studios located in the Philadelphia area. The total requirement for graduation from this program is 165-168 credits.

Fifth Year Curriculum (Dance Education)

Semester IX	Semester X

Certificate in Dance

The two-year Certificate program is designed specifically for those students who wish to concentrate on dance studies without a liberal arts requirement. This program gives students concentrated study in the broad spectrum of dance styles and develops students' familiarity, proficiency, and performing ability in these areas. Graduation requirements include the successful completion of the performance requirement as well as the prescribed course of study.

ADMISSIONS

Admission to the College's degree and certificate programs is determined by a review of the applicant's secondary school record, SAT or ACT scores, and audition results. The admissions program seeks to determine the applicant's technical and artistic grasp of his or her major performance medium and of dance fundamentals as a whole. It also evaluates the applicant's ability to function in a college environment and overall commitment to dance as a career and as an art.

In special cases the SAT or ACT requirement may be waived by the Director of Admissions. No specific SAT or ACT cut-off is employed by the College.

Applicants must complete requirements for the high school diploma, GED, or the foreign equivalent prior to actual enrollment in the College, with the exception of those accepted under the Early Admissions Program. Official transcripts of secondary school credits earned must be submitted to the Admissions Office before enrollment.

Application Procedures

All applicants must submit:

1. A completed Application for Admission and a check or money order to cover the non-refundable $25 application fee.
2. Official transcripts from all secondary schools or colleges attended.

3. SAT or ACT scores.

4. A one-page resume of previous dance training including the names of teachers, studios, length of study, and performance experience. This should be attached to the application.

DANCE AUDITIONS

The dance audition is of major importance in the admissions process. Selection is based upon the applicant's current level of technical proficiency and potential for professional development. The audition consists of one-half hour class each in Ballet, Modern Dance, and Jazz Dance class. Applicants must also perform a dance composition limited to two minutes and may be the applicant's own choreography. Musical accompaniment must be provided on a cassette tape or record.

VIDEO-TAPED AUDITIONS

If distance makes a personal audition impossible, two letters of recommendation from dance teachers with whom the applicant has studied and a video tape of performance will be acceptable. We request that video tapes submitted be either in Beta-I Format or VHS Format. All video-taped dance auditions must show:

1. Ballet and either modern or jazz.
2. Warm-up including both floor work and barre. Barre to be taped sideways and frontwards and should include: pliés-demi and grand, tendues, dégagés (battement jetés), ronds-de-jambes, grands battements, développés (extensions)—en croix.
3. Center work should include small and large jumps, pirouettes, adagio and a modern or jazz combination.
4. Locomotor in jazz or modern dance—a combination of at least 8 measures which includes leaps and turns.
5. A short work of your own, not longer than two minutes.

Dance Scholarship Auditions

All auditions on or before April 6th are considered scholarship auditions. Those auditioning after that date may be considered for awards depending on the availability of funds.

Regional Auditions

Regional auditions are conducted throughout the United States each year. The regional audition schedule for Fall 1983 admission is listed below. Regional auditions will be video-taped by the College; therefore, participants should prepare their audition per the guidelines and instructions listed for video-tape auditions on page 23.

Facilities

The School of Dance is housed at 309 South Broad Street and in the Annex Building at 313 S. Broad. These buildings house six spacious studios equipped with barres, mirrors and resilient floors. Dance administrative offices, dressing rooms, lockers, showers, and lounges are also located in these buildings.

In addition to the main PCPA Library, students have available to them one of the largest and most diversified collections devoted to dance in the United States. Books, films, records, and journals are available to students for research studies and coursework.

CAMPUS VISITS

Applicants are encouraged to visit the College. An appointment is required in advance for a student to attend a day of dance classes or to meet with dance or admissions personnel. Visits are an excellent opportunity for the applicant to experience our program and to meet college officials, but is not part of the audition procedure.

GRADUATE STUDIES

Master Joseph Primavera conducts

The Graduate Program in Music is an intensive two-year course of study leading to the Master of Music degree. It is intended for the unusually gifted music student who has demonstrated excellence on the undergraduate level and who can benefit from advanced study in music and the humanities. PCPA affords the opportunity to study with an outstanding faculty including many members of the Philadelphia Orchestra, artists of national and international acclaim and recognized teachers in music and the humanities. A full range of performance opportunities is incorporated into each program. Degree programs offered include: Composition, Performance, and Opera Singing.

The Master of Music in Composition Degree program is based on four broad objectives:

1. To broaden the student's compositional skills with reference to compositions written for voice, acoustical instruments, and the electronic idiom.
2. To acquaint the student with basic skills of research and to assist him in furthering his knowledge of music theory and music history/literature through the application of these basic research skills.
3. To develop the student's ability to conduct, coach, and to prepare a composition for performance.
4. To develop effective skills in writing and critical inquiry such that the student's perspective of music is broadened through studies in the humanities.

The Master of Music in Performance Degree program is based on three broad objectives:

1. To advance the student's performing skill in the major area.
2. To acquaint the student with basic skills of research and to assist him in furthering his knowledge of music theory and music history/literature through the application of these basic research skills.
3. To develop effective skills in writing and critical inquiry such that the student's perspective of music is broadened through studies in the humanities.

The Master of Music in Opera Singing Degree program is based on the following two broad objectives:

1. To train singers in a professionally oriented program to be more complete performers in the areas of singing, acting, and movement. It is intended to enable them to reach a high level of theatrical and musical communication.
2. To acquaint students with operatic literature and to afford them the opportunity to participate in productions.

Specific requirements for graduation are determined by the graduate faculty of each major discipline. Current requirements are available from the Coordinator of Graduate Studies.

Admissions Criteria

The following criteria are important factors which are considered when reviewing the applicant's qualifications for admission to a graduate program:

1. Level of performance or compositional ability.
2. Breadth of general musical knowledge, measured in four areas: theory, musicianship, music history, and music literature.
3. Facility in written and oral organization and expression of ideas.
4. Personal commitment to a career goal.
5. Keyboard proficiency at a basic level.
6. Academic record as viewed through transcript(s).

World famous tenor Plácido Domingo receives PCPA honorary doctorate, Spring 1982.

Application Procedure

1. Complete and submit the Graduate Application for Admission, available from the Office of Admissions, along with the $25. application fee.
2. Submit a list of all repertoire studied and performed or compositions completed. Performers will also list the repertoire to be performed at the audition and composers will indicate which compositions will be submitted in a portfolio.
3. Official transcripts from all post-secondary schools attended must be sent directly to the Office of Admissions.
4. Three letters of recommendation from current or past teachers, school officials, or prominent musicians must be submitted on the appropriate forms.
5. An essay (1000 word minimum) explaining how study at PCPA will help the applicant achieve his or her career goals must be submitted with the application.
6. Foreign students must take the TOEFL examination (Test of English as a Foreign Language).

Following the completion of the application procedure outlined above, the applicant will be auditioned by the Auditions Committee and appropriate members of the graduate faculty. Applicants will have a fifteen-minute interview with members of the Graduate Policy Committee. The Committee will then review all of the application materials and a decision will be made.

Audition Repertoire

Graduate auditions are one half hour in length and should be performed from memory. Instrumentalists may choose their own repertoire which must reflect different style periods and include at least one Twentieth Century Work. Vocalists, including opera applicants, should prepare selections in English, German, French, and Italian. Composers should come prepared to discuss their compositions, compositional style, previous training and compositional goals. All instrumentalists and vocalists will be expected to sightread a piece selected by the Auditions Committee. A competent accompanist will be available at each audition.

Taped auditions will be accepted only at the discretion of the Graduate Policy Committee and by prior arrangement. Any acceptance by tape will be tentative pending a live audition upon arrival at the College.

The late composer Richard Rodgers and actress Liv Ullmann congratulate each other upon receiving honorary doctorates from PCPA.

Recent Opera Department productions include: (clockwise)
Monteverdi's Orfeo, Massenet's Manon, Puccini's *Gianni
Schicchi*, and Poulenc's Dialogues of the Carmelites.

GENERAL INFORMATION

Student Life

The focal point of most student life at PCPA is involvement in the various ensembles and productions. In addition, students maintain the Student Government Association, electing student officers annually. An active student chapter of Music Educators National Conference is an integral part of student life for many at PCPA, while additional student organizations are available.

The Center City location offers a variety of restaurants, movies, professional touring company productions, all types of shopping, museums, libraries, historical areas of interest, and other forms of entertainment. All of these are within walking distance of the College.

Student Housing

The PCPA Residence Hall (Spruce Hall) is located at 301 S. 15th Street, about one (1) block from the main college facilities. The dormitory offers all of the regular dormitory services including a professional live-in director/counselor, student assistants/counselors, 24-hour security, laundry facilities, and a student lounge.

All rooms are double occupancy, with the exception of a few triples. All rooms are furnished with a study desk, chest of drawers, bed and mattress, chair, private bathroom, and small built-in kitchen. No food service is available.

All new freshmen and transfer students are expected to live in the Residence Hall during the first year of attendance/enrollment at PCPA.

The Summer Session

The College offers a three-week and a six-week Summer Session. Students may register for the courses on a regular credit basis. A list of course offerings may be obtained from the Registrar after May 1st.

ACT 101

Made possible through a grant from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania Office of Equal Opportunity, ACT 101 is geared to assisting educationally and economically disadvantaged students to the completion of the certificate or bachelor's degree.

The Program provides for specialized tutoring and counseling in select courses in music, dance, and the humanities. In addition, if enrollment merits it, a six-week pre-college summer preparatory session is offered. All services offered by ACT 101 are free of charge, and every effort is made to distribute available financial aid in such a way as to arrange adequate aid packages to all ACT 101 students. Those who qualify for participation in the program must be residents of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and must demonstrate economic and educational need within the regulations specified in the program guidelines. Interested persons are encouraged to contact the ACT 101 Coordinator.

Pre-College Training

The College has found that the applicants who are best prepared for its programs of study are those who have had a minimum of two to five years of serious study prior to matriculation.

PCPA offers pre-college level training in music and dance to persons of all ages on a non-credit basis in the Music Conservatory and Dance Extension Divisions of the school. Instruction is available on all instruments, voice, theory, composition, ballet, modern dance, and jazz dance.

PCPA applicants are not required to study in one of the School's pre-college division, however many have found it to be an excellent preparation for the college bound student. Additional information is available from the Admissions Office, Conservatory Division, or the Dance Extension Division.

Early Admissions Program

The Early Admissions Program is available to those who have completed the sophomore year of high school with at least a B average. This special program allows the student of exceptional talent and ability to complete high school and begin college simultaneously. Those accepted into the program are not eligible for college graduation until which time all high school graduation requirements have been completed and a diploma awarded.

This program is available ONLY to those who have exceptional talent, ability, and potential in an area of performance as well as high academic achievement and the full cooperation and approval of the College, the applicant's high school and parents.

Those interested should arrange for a personal interview with the Dean of Students/Admissions.

Part-Time Students

Part-time study is available to degree and non-degree students each semester. Interested persons should contact the Dean of Students and Admissions for information regarding registration procedures and instructions.

Transfer Students

Students wishing to transfer to PCPA from another college should follow the same application procedures as outlined on pages 15-16 for music majors and pages 23-24 for dance majors.

Any credits earned at another institution other than in the applicant's major area will be evaluated and validated by the PCPA Applied Music, Theoretical Studies, General Studies/Humanities, Music Education and/or Dance Division before they will be accepted for credit toward a PCPA degree. Advanced standing in the major area is determined as a result of the audition. The applicant may be asked to take tests which will aid in the evaluation of skill and knowledge. In no case will credit earned with a grade below "C" be accepted. Transfer students may receive no more than four semesters advanced standing in the major area.

Foreign Students

Foreign students who wish to enter PCPA must comply with all provisions of the Immigration Act and will be admitted only on a full-time basis. Immigration information is available from U.S. Embassy offices in foreign countries.

Foreign students are required to take the TEST OF ENGLISH AS A FOREIGN LANGUAGE (TOEFL) or provide proof of English proficiency. The College requires a TOEFL score of 450 or higher. TOEFL information is available from the Educational Testing Service, Box 899, Princeton, New Jersey, 08541, USA.

The I-20 Form, issued by the College for immigration purposes, will not be forwarded until the applicant has been fully admitted, provided an acceptable TOEFL score or the equivalent, and submitted the required advance tuition deposit.

FINANCIAL AID

PCPA offers financial aid to qualified students to help defray educational expenses. Some of the awards may be offered singly or in various "package" combinations. Last year, over 53% of the College's entering class received aid through PCPA institutional grants and employment, state and federal need-based programs (grants, loans, employment), private grants and scholarships, or a combination of all types of aid.

The standard FEDERALLY-SPONSORED PROGRAMS at PCPA are:

- *Basic Educational Opportunity Grant (BEOG/PELL Grants)
- *Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant (SEOG)
- *College Work-Study Program (CWSP)
- *National Direct Student Loan (NDSL)
- *Federally-Insured Loans

The following STATE PROGRAMS are available at PCPA:

- *PHEAA (Pennsylvania residents only)
- *Guaranteed Student Loan (GSL)

The following INSTITUTIONAL PROGRAMS are available at PCPA:

- *Tuition Remission Grants (TRG)
- *Private scholarships and awards

To be considered for any or all of the above types of student aid, applicants must submit:

1. The Financial Aid Form (FAF) published by the College Scholarship Service. FAF's are available at any secondary guidance office or by writing to the PCPA Financial Aid office.

2. The PCPA Financial Aid Application to the Director of Financial Aid.
3. The appropriate federal or state applications for individual programs.

NOTE: Those who wish to be considered for a Tuition Remission Grant and/or private scholarships and awards must apply for admission and complete the required audition prior to April 1.

ALL QUESTIONS OR PROBLEMS PERTAINING TO FINANCIAL AID OR APPLICATION PROCESSES SHOULD BE ADDRESSED TO THE DIRECTOR OF FINANCIAL AID.

PCPA SUMMER INSTITUTE

PCPA provides a unique opportunity for students to work and study with some of the world's leading performing artists during the summer. The six week program, held during June and July, enables instrumentalists and dancers of high school and college age to work in a highly professional atmosphere.

The Orchestral program centers around orchestral, ensemble, and individual musical growth. The Institute's Orchestra performs a number of times during the summer. Last year, Charles Dutoit, Music Director of the Montreal Symphony, conducted a performance at the Mann Music Center, the summer home of the Philadelphia Orchestra. Students at the three Institutes are invited to attend, for free, the eighteen concerts given by the Philadelphia Orchestra at the Mann Music Center. In addition, members of this celebrated ensemble work closely with the students of the Orchestral Institute; coaching and rehearsing sectionals and small chamber ensembles, and conducting master classes on their respective instruments.

The Dance Institute offers daily technique classes in ballet, jazz, and modern dance. Rosanna Servalli, Ivan Nagy, Donald Sadler, Ethel Winter, and Liz Williamson each taught advanced sections for the Institute last summer. Intermediate and elementary level technique classes are also available as well as courses in Styles and Steps of Theatre Dance, Jazz Dance Workshops, mime, tap, and dance composition.

The Jazz Institute offers jazz students big band and small combo experience. Internationally famous jazz educators and performers such as Slide Hampton are featured in clinics and concerts. Last year, Neil Slater conducted the Jazz Institute in a concert at Philadelphia's PCPA Shubert Theatre. Concepts about commercial music, improvisation, and arranging are discussed in workshops and classes during the program.

The professional environment, the quality of faculty, and the creative energy that is generated at all PCPA Summer Institutes help to make this a truly rewarding and worthwhile experience. Interested students should contact Douglas H. Fitzgerald, Coordinator, Summer Institutes.

TUITION DEPOSIT

A tuition deposit is required of all new students when accepted and is credited to the first semester's tuition. It is not refundable after July 1 for students entering in the Fall Semester or December 1 for students entering in the Spring Semester.

A tuition deposit is also required of all returning students in November for the spring semester and prior to registration in April for the fall semester. The deposit is credited to the following semester's tuition. Financial aid recipients who have confirmed grants scholarships or loans for the full tuition amount will not be subject to this requirement after they have received written confirmation from the Director of Financial Aid.

PAYMENT OF FEES

Tuition and fees are payable on or before August 1 for the Fall semester and on or before December 1 for the Spring semester. Credit will be allowed for amounts paid at registration.

Students who are delinquent in payment of financial obligations will not be permitted to attend classes or register for the following semester and will be subject to appropriate late payment and late registration fees. No transcript, grade report, degree or certificate will be issued to a student until all tuition, fees, fines, emergency loans and any other assessed charges are paid in full.

COLLEGE REFUND POLICY

The College must engage its faculty and make other financial commitments in advance of each term in accordance with the number of students who have expressed their intent to enroll. When students withdraw from the College, vacancies are created which cannot be filled and the College's financial commitment must still be honored.

The refund policy at PCPA applies only to a complete withdrawal from all courses for which either a full-time or part-time student is registered. Any partial withdrawal (i.e. from individual courses) will not result in a partial refund of tuition. A change in tuition assessment status from full-time to part-time will not be permitted on or after the first day of classes.

Any student who withdraws from the College before the first day of classes will receive a 100% refund of tuition paid (excluding fees and charges).

For those who withdraw on the first day of classes of anytime thereafter, an administrative committee may review refund requests. When approved, the refund schedule allows for up to 80% refund during the first week of classes; 60% during the second week; 40% during the third week; 20% during the fourth week; and no refund after the fourth week of classes.*

No refunds are allowed for Dormitory Charge(s) after the student has moved into the Residence Hall.

In computing refunds, the date of withdrawal is the date on which the Registrar receives written notice from the student, his parents, or his guardian. If notice is received after withdrawal, refunds cannot be made retroactive to date leaving.

No refunds will be made to students dismissed at any time for unsatisfactory academic standing or infraction of regulations.

Refunds for students receiving financial assistance from scholarships, grants, or loans will be returned first to the grantors in accordance with their requirements, and the difference, if any, will be refunded to the student.
